

JOSÉ DE CASTRO has a degree in Agronomic Engineering from the Polytechnic University of Madrid (ETSI Agrónomos) and has also a master in Executive Development Program (EDP) from the Spanish School of Industrial Organization (EOI). José worked throughout his professional life for several national and multinational companies in the Public Integral Water Cycle area - such as VEOLIA WATER TECHNOLOGIES -, and has over 25 years' experience in sales consultancy and in the management of service contracts related to this specific sector, particularly as regards treatment and final disposal of wastes generated in WWTPs and WTPs (sewage and waterworks sludges, etc.). Currently holds the position of Technical Director at PW ADVISORY & CAPITAL SERVICES (PWACS: www.pwacs.es), a Spanish consulting firm specializing in providing high value-added advising services to Public Administrations and private companies in the field of the Urban Services Management.